As part of its activity, the CBA also conducts preventive and educational activities. In this regard, it cooperates with other institutions and NGOs dealing with issues of corruption.

THE CBA'S WEBSITES

The websites cba.gov.pl/en in both language versions include basic information related to the activities of the Bureau. In 2014, the website was adapted to the needs of people with disabilities, and in 2017 its graphic design was changed. The site is also available in English on Facebook and Twitter.

The website antykorupcja.gov.pl contains information of educational nature covering, among others, current media reports on corruption and its countermeasures, analyses and reports as well as the results of social research. Educational content can also be found on websites run by the CBA: Facebook, Twitter and YouTube.

PUBLICATIONS

The CBA issued publications which are available in the form of e-books and audiobooks.

ANTI-CORRUPTION TRAINING COURSES

An educational programme, commenced in October 2010, dedicated to employees of public administration, contributed to educational activities arising from the issuance of the Anti-Corruption Manual for Civil Servants. The training courses are conducted by the officers of the CBA, who illustrate the theory with examples derived from their professional experience.

On the website <http://szkoleniaantykorupcyjne.edu.pl/> was made available the anti-corruption e-learning platform in Polish and English version. It is one of few examples of such an application in Europe. Current version includes modern legislative and organisational solutions in the scope of counteracting corruption in Poland and is adjusted to needs of all people interested in anti-corruption issues, especially officials, entrepreneurs and students.
